About CULTTASTIC

CULTTASTIC is a Ukrainian-American synth-pop music producer and recording artist. The former competitive rhythmic gymnast and figure skater began composing music as CULTTASTIC while recovering from a contortionist-training injury. She independently writes, produces and records her music.

"Nothing will destroy this... Step into my Matrix," she entices on M-Theory, alternating between lyrics in Russian and English, gliding over the sounds of hissing hydraulics and engines ripping through laser-lit tunnels. CULTTASTIC views music as a form of magic, and recurring themes in her songs include transcending physical limits, isolation, invincibility, exploring hidden desires and dancing among alternate realities.

"I'm the night/You're the rain in the night," she purrs on I'm the Night, her debut single that was released as two contrasting versions: the candy coated, glitch J-pop rendition and the creepy, ethereal witch house mix. CULTTASTIC edits her music videos and designs elaborate visuals to embody her sound. Her otherworldly look resembles an alien mannequin blending into its environment.
